Harvana orders supply of water to parched areas through tankers

Chandigarh As temperatures continue to rise in Harvana, the state government has directed officials to ensure tankers supply potable water to areas facing a scarcity.

The order was given last evening by Haryana's Public Health Engineering Minister Banwari Lal at a departmental meeting attended by the state's superintending engineers, an official statement said.

The temperature has stayed above the 40-degree mark in most parts of Haryana for days. Hisar was the hottest on Tuesday with a high of 45.5 degrees Celsius.

With monsoon expected to reach the state by the end of June, flood preparedness was also discussed in the meeting.

The officials were directed to ensure that sewers, inlet channels and tanks were cleaned in time to prevent waterlogging during rains. The problem, they said, is very common in Rohtak.

The minister also ordered regular collection and testing of water samples to prevent the spread of vector-borne diseases. PTI

Hry, Pb sizzle as heat wave intensifies; Hisar hottest

Chandigarh Intense heat wave conditions further intensified in most parts of Haryana and Punjab with Hisar and Chandigarh sizzling at a high of 45.5 and 43 degrees Celsius respectively.

Hisar in Haryana was the hottest place in the two states, the Met Department said.

As maximum temperatures rose further since on Tuesday, many places including Hisar, Chandigarh, Narnaul and Patiala recorded season's hottest day.

Haryana in 'mission mode' to revive Saraswati River: Kavita Jain

TSN/Chandigarh he Haryana government is working in a mission mode for the revival and rejuvenation of Saraswati river, Art and Cultural Affairs Minister Kavita Jain said on Wednesday while describing the mythical river as a national heritage of India.

The minister made the remarks after the Haryana Sarasvati Heritage Development Board and the state's irrigation and water resources department signed two MoUs to investigate the palaeo-channel, and study hydrological and geomorphological aspects relating to the river.

"The state government has now roped in agencies like the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), National Institute of Hydrology and Geological Survey of India (NIH) to speed up work in this direction," Jain said.

She exhorted the agencies to take up the MoUs as a mission so as to realise the vision of the state government to give recognition to Saraswati river at international level.

It was a matter of pride that Adi Badri in Haryana is the origin point of the river, she said, adding that our Vedas were also written at the river bank.

Jain expressed her gratitude to Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar for showing interest and enthusiasm in the revival and rejuvenation of Saraswati

Earlier, speaking on the occasion, Deputy Chairman of the HSHDB Prashant Bhardwaj said that the ISRO has prepared GIS database of Saraswati palaeochannel.

The water balance study of Saraswati river catchment would be done using hydro-geological modelling and geospatial techniques. This would be carried out in four phases from the year 2018 to 2020, an official release said.

Sanitation workers strike: Hry govt sets up committee to hold

TSN/Chandigarh

In a bid to end the fortnight-long strike of the sanitation workers in support of their demands, the Haryana government on Wednesday set up a committee under the chairmanship of Urban Local Bodies Minister Kavita Jain.

The committee would hold meetings with leaders of the striking Safai Karamcharis and work out on an agreement on their demands.

Besides Jain, the committee would comprise Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment, Krishan Kumar Bedi, and Minister of State for Cooperation, Manish Grover, as members.

The committee and a team of officers concerned would hold a meeting with the leaders of employees and work out an agreement on all issues so that the strike by sanitation workers could be called off at the earliest, Bedi said here on Wednesday. Notably, garbage has piled up at several places across the state as the standoff between the striking employees and government continued.

The talks between the state government and the representatives of the striking employees on past two occasions have failed.

Initially, the Safai Karamcharis began a three-day strike on May 9. Three days later, they decided to extend the strike till May 14 and on May 17, they went on an indefinite strike after the talks with the government failed to yield positive result.

The major demands of the striking employees include regularisation of the contractual employees, minimum salary of Rs 15,000 per month for Safai Karamcharis, implementation of cashless medical facilities for contractual employees, increasing allowances of both permanent and contractual employees, risk allowance and better safety equipment for those engaged in cleaning sewers.
